PRICE TWO CENTS

A Name Twice Made Famous, Now a Shining Mark for Imitators.

The name "Chase," twice made famous, is a shining mark for the unscrupulous to pounce upon and appropriate in order to foist upon the public their worthless preparations. These birds of prey, by using the name Chase, expect the public to be fooled into believing they are the medicines of Dr. A. W. Chase, who first became noted as the author of the world famous Dr. Chase's Kidney Pills, and whose name is now doubly increased by the wonderful success of his Nerve Pills, with Nerve, Brain and Blood troubles. They play upon the name Chase, but dare not use the initials "A. W."

They imitate, but dare not counterfeit the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, which identifies the Nerve Pills now recognized as infallible for building up pale, weak, thin-blooded, nerve exhausted sufferers.

Who are nerve-tired and brain-weary. Who are easily exhausted. Who are wakeful—cannot sleep. Who have nervous headache. They remove the cause of blood impurities, securing refreshing sleep and impart strength.

They build up people who find their strength and vigor waning. They settle irritated nerves, replace languor and lassitude with energy and animation. Cure Nervous Dyspepsia.

CAUTION.—The protection to the public in securing the genuine and original Dr. A. W. Chase preparation is in seeing the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, M. D., on each box. These and these only are the genuine. Do not be satisfied with anything bearing the name "Chase" without the initials A. W. so as to distinguish from Dr. A. W. Chase's Medicines Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

WON ON POINTS

The Defense of the New England Coast Against Invader Effectual.

DAVY JONES' LOCKER

Theoretically That Is Where Admiral Pillsbury's White Squadron Is This Minute.

Admiral Higginson's Defending Squadron Held the "Enemy" At Its Mercy.

Rockport, Mass., Aug. 25.—The naval search problem on the New England coast was terminated at 5:40 Sunday morning by the signal "Surround; demand and unconditional," from Rear Admiral Higginson's flagship, and the reply "Accept surrender" from the foreturret of the Prairie, Commander Pillsbury's flagship. The battle between the blue or defending squadron and the white or attacking squadron was thus quickly ended eight miles south of Thatcher's Island. The enemy had most signally failed to make a harbor having for its objective Salem. A preponderance of fighting strength, relatively 64 points, represented by the battleships Kearsarge, Alabama and Massachusetts, Scorpion and a torpedo boat, had overwhelmed the 45 points represented by the auxiliary cruisers Prairie, Panther and Supply. To speak from a theoretic standpoint, the white squadron was entirely destroyed by the guns of the defending battleships. Thus on the fourth night the game of naval strategy was brought to an end, it having covered a period of unceasing toil, sleepless nights, of anxious and weary vigil and of grave uncertainty to its participants.

The destruction of Pillsbury's squadron occurred at a point just within the outer limit of Gloucester harbor not over eight miles southerly from Thatcher's Island, off which had been anchored since Wednesday, when the war game was declared opened, the three powerful battleships of the blue squadron.

The surrounding and "putting out of action" of the squadron in command of Commander Pillsbury was the culminating incident in one of the most interesting chapters in the peace history of the American navy. For the placing in operation of the maneuvers of the warships off the coast of New England the navy had long prepared itself and had long looked forward with keen anticipation. As planned by the naval authorities at Washington, two squadrons were to be put into the game, one the blue, the defending fleet, and the other the white, to be a hostile fleet bent upon effecting an anchorage in some unprotected harbor on the coast from Cape Elizabeth to Cape Cod, opposed all the time by the first named fleet. This anchorage had to be maintained against the defenders for a period of six hours. Commander Pillsbury's white squadron consisted of the auxiliary cruisers Prairie (flagship), Panther and Supply. The two former boats were each assigned 20 points of fighting strength, while the Supply was assumed to represent five points. Admiral Higginson's fleet was actually superior in the number of its members, and by the same arrangements made as to the Pillsbury ships, it represented a grand total of 97 points of strength.

The Kearsarge, the Alabama and the Massachusetts battleships were given 20, the cruisers Brooklyn and Olympia eight each, the Cincinnati, Montgomery, Gloucester, Mayflower and Scorpion three points each, while a number of torpedo boats made up the remaining numbers.

To win in the mimic war the blue squadron had to bring against the attacking vessels, as it did early Sunday, the warships superior in their combined assumed fighting power. Each side had the right to capture individual craft of the other fleet by overcoming them in point of strength, and under the rules of the game the captured vessels were to retire altogether from the field of action.

In the defeat of Pillsbury the defense with three battleships, the Scorpion and with a single torpedo boat, had 64 points, so that the balance was against the attacking squadron. Throughout the mimic war there was placed in operation a system of coast defense which was admittedly of credit to those who engaged in it.

The problem was so complicated that on the war vessels here last night the week's work is viewed with satisfaction for the one reason, if for no other, that the squadron has had invaluable practice.

A Serious Handicap. Washington, Aug. 25.—The white's defeat has been anticipated here by naval officers. They believed he was handicapped by the limited area of the defending line, the slow speed of his ships and the small number of ports which he could enter under the rules.

Boiler Exploded. Mexico, Mo., Aug. 25.—One man was killed, three fatally injured and one seriously hurt by the explosion of the boiler of the big mogul drawing the first section of the Chicago & Alton train No. 86, eleven miles west of this city, being going thirty-five miles an hour.

READY FOR WORK

Republican State Candidates Getting Into Harness.

Indianapolis, Aug. 25.—The Republican candidates on the state ticket are getting ready to enter the campaign. Most of them have been out of the state the past month recuperating so as to be in good shape. Dan Storms of Lafayette, candidate for secretary of state, has just returned from San Francisco, where he attended the K. of P. encampment. David E. Sherick, candidate for auditor, who has been in Mount Airy, Md., the last few weeks, is expected here tomorrow or next day. Nat U. Hill of Bloomington, candidate for treasurer, and Charles W. Miller of Goshen, candidate for attorney general, who have also been resting, are re-entering the lists. Robert A. Brown, candidate for clerk of the supreme court, is traveling in California, but he will return by Sept. 1. Fassett A. Cotton, candidate for superintendent of public instruction, has spent most of the summer taking a special course at the Chicago University, but he will be home in a few days. All these men expect to do a great deal of work within the next two months. It is likely the state committee will be called together by Sept. 1 to meet with the candidates and go over the situation, which from a Republican standpoint is most flattering.

It is likely it will be definitely known within a short time whether or not Indianapolis will get the much-talked-of army post. Word from Washington today was to the effect that as soon as Secretary of War Root returns to Washington he will take the matter up. The committee of army officers that met here recently to investigate the sites offered is now ready to report. There is no question but that suitable ground is available, but it is not known whether or not it will be offered at a price that suits the government. Uncle Sam may have money to burn, but he likes to grind a bargain, so if unreasonable demands are made for the land, the chances are that Indianapolis will lose the post. There is also much interest as to whether or not the promoters of the national technical institute will succeed in raising enough money to pay for the arsenal site. It was understood today $60,000 has been subscribed, but this is just the half way mark. There have been a number of notable donations, among which are those of Hugh J. McGowan and George F. McCulloch, the interurban and streetcar men, who gave $10,000 each. Many public-spirited citizens are now coming to the front, so it is likely that the city may get both the army post and the technical institute.

The sixteenth week of the great anthracite strike began today with no signs of weakening on either side. It is indeed the greatest strike the world has ever known. That the men could hold out for so long a time no one except the officials of the miners, had any idea, when the strike commenced. But the men are holding out and are evidently in better condition than they were at the start. The half-million dollar a week defense fund is keeping their heads above water and as long as it holds out it is not likely there will be a weakening on their side. It looks as if the miners propose to compel the operators to assume the aggressive. Already the strike has cost the anthracite region and the country at large over $50,000,000. The operators steadily refuse to arbitrate the question, claiming unconditional surrender the only basis on which they will settle. In the meantime the country is suffering from high prices, and even if the mines were started tomorrow they could not furnish enough coal in three months to supply the market. At the miners' national headquarters here, confidence was expressed today they hold the winning side.

The question of primary election reform is again being discussed. No action has been taken since the Commercial club primary election commission adjourned for the summer, but Addison C. Harris, president of the commission, has returned to the city, so it is probable there will be something doing again soon. The plan is to call a state meeting after the election, inviting the members of the legislature and representatives of commercial and labor organizations to participate in the movement. The State Federation of Labor is taking an active interest and has already appointed a committee to prepare a bill or co-operate with the Commercial club commission. The leaders of the federation, it is generally understood, are in favor of a direct primary system, and if the commission is not of that mind, may introduce a bill of their own. But the chances are very much against the legislature enacting a law providing for a general direct primary, as it was demonstrated at the last session that the direct system was not popular. It is believed, however, that the coming session will witness a decided step in the direction of purer primaries.

Call On Congress. New York, Aug. 25.—President Roosevelt will be asked to call a special session of congress to take action to end the coal strike. This was decided at a meeting Sunday of the Central Federation union, representing 250,000 workmen. It is stated that a mass meeting under the auspices of the labor unions of New York and vicinity will be held, at which resolution will be adopted urging President Roosevelt to immediately call congress to meet and decide upon plans which will bring the strike to a speedy termination.

Note Didn't Explain. Chicago, Aug. 25.—Bryant Schick was awakened Sunday morning by a dream that a mishap had befallen his wife. He found the house filled with escaping gas and his wife and two children, one a girl of two years and the other an infant, dead. It is supposed that Mrs. Schick turned on the gas while temporarily insane. She left a note, but it was so poorly written that nobody could read it.

NAMED THE BABY

Our Strenuous President Acts In An Entirely New Role.

HE IS NOW GODFATHER

President Roosevelt Varied His Sunday Program By Being Head Man At A Christening.

The Winthrop Chandler Baby Starts Out In Life With An Excellent Name.

Nahant, Mass., Aug. 25.—President Roosevelt left Newport Sunday at 2 o'clock in a sumptuous train of four special cars. Accompanying him to the depot were Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Chandler and Senator and Mrs. Lodge. The two latter journeying with the party to Nahant, the home of the Lodges, where the president spent the night.

A more quiet day could not have been spent by the president. As his custom, he rose early and after eating a light breakfast, left the Chanler house about 9 o'clock and went out to meet Mrs. Roosevelt, who had come up on the Sylph during the night. The president was aboard the ship for about two hours. Mrs. Roosevelt accompanied him ashore and spent half an hour at the Chandler residence, taking a look at the baby, but did not remain for the christening. She left shortly before the event, for Oyster Bay. The president remained at the Chandler villa, where the ceremony of christening the baby was performed by Rev. John Diamond of the Episcopal church in the presence of the president, who acted as godfather, Senator and Mrs. Lodge, the latter acting as godmother; Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, and a large number of the personal friends of the family.

The affair was regarded as one of the most auspicious events of the season at that fashionable resort, due not only to the social prominence of the Chanderes, but to the fact that the president of the United States would act as godfather to the child, for whom it was named. This afternoon the president will deliver an address from the steps of the public library building in Nahant.

MISSIONARIES MURDERED

Action of Superstitious Natives In China.

Pekin, Aug. 25.—An edict has been issued ordering the murderers of an English missionary named Lewis and an Australian missionary named Bruce to be punished. The crimes were committed at Chen Chou, in Hunan province. The government expresses deep regret at the occurrence and promises to make reparation.

It is reported that the murders were the outcome of an outburst of superstitious frenzy on the part of the populace based upon the idea that the missionaries in question had caused an epidemic of cholera, which is raging at Chen Chou, by poisoning drinking water. The mob wrecked the mission building and murdered the missionaries, who had but recently arrived at Chen Chou, where they were cordially welcomed.

Situation Is Serious.

Colon, Aug. 25.—The Colombian government recognizes the revolutionary situation to be serious. Many persons question the ability of the insurgents to hold Colon if they attack and capture this port, owing to the fact that they possess no gunboats on the Atlantic side of the isthmus. The government is endeavoring to purchase another war vessel in the United States for use on the Pacific coast. There is at present no foreign man-of-war at Colon.

Note Didn't Explain.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Bryant Schick was awakened Sunday morning by a dream that a mishap had befallen his wife. He found the house filled with escaping gas and his wife and two children, one a girl of two years and the other an infant, dead. It is supposed that Mrs. Schick turned on the gas while temporarily insane. She left a note, but it was so poorly written that nobody could read it.

THREE WERE KILLED

An Appalling Smashup On the Southern Railway.

New Albany, Ind., Aug. 25.—In a disastrous freight wreck on the Southern railway near Georgetown, ten miles west of here early Sunday, Engineer "Red" Duval, Fireman B. Cox and Brakeman Ross of one train were killed outright and Engineer Harry Goodall and Fireman George Myers of the other train were probably fatally hurt. Fourteen boxcars loaded with wheat, together with two locomotives, were tumbled over a trestle to a ravine forty feet below and were demolished. Two sections of the through freight were coming east and the first section in charge of Conductor Walter Alvis had stopped at Duncans to switch, leaving a cut of cars on the main track. There is a heavy grade at this point, and by some means the cars broke away and rolled down the track, gaining momentum at each revolution of the wheels. Just as the runaway cars were approaching the trestle the second section, drawn by two big moguls, came thundering over the hill, and the crash occurred a moment later. The cars piled over the locomotives and all went down into the ravine in a heap. Both Duval and Cox went down with their locomotives. Ross was on one of the runaway cars and was crushed beneath it. Engineer Goodall and Fireman Myers, in charge of the other locomotive, jumped and saved their lives, although they may yet die. Conductor A. G. Lewis and Brakeman John Burns of the second section jumped and escaped serious injury. Duval's body was taken to his home in Louisville, and that of Ross was sent to Milltown, Ind., his home. Cox's remains were sent to Princeton, where his relatives reside.

Duval had been married but a few days. The loss to the railroad company will amount to about $75,000.

Engineers Goodall and Duval, Fireman Cox, Brakeman Ross, and Myers were buried in the debris. There was great difficulty in extricating Myers, and his voice could be heard for hours before he was removed. Cox, Ross and Duval were dead when found.

ANOTHER CLUE

Witness Reveals Mysterious Actions About Bartholin Home.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Whether or not the exhuming of the remains buried in Calvary cemetery as the body of Minnie Mitchell shall develop that the missing girl's family was correct in accepting the body as that of their missing daughter, the police have secured ample evidence to indicate that some young woman was lured into the basement of the Bartholin house on the Wednesday night that William Bartholin and his sweetheart vanished from sight.

An important witness whose name will not be made public for the present has been found. He is a business man whose home is not far from the Bartholin house. According to this witness he awoke at 4:30 a.m. on the night of the disappearance of the Bartholin family. He was awakened by a noise on the steps of the house at 604 44th street. He walked along Calumet avenue, and his walk led him past the Bartholin home. As he went by he noticed a woman, apparently quite young, standing on the grass plot in front of the building. The pedestrian had gone beyond the Bartholin residence when he heard a man's voice, and looking back he could just discern a figure outlined against the staircase leading to the basement which two weeks ago gave up Mrs. Bartholin's body.

The man on the steps, who is assumed to have been William Bartholin, said something that could not be heard and the girl responded, asking why the first speaker wanted her to go into the "filthy" basement. Turning back again when he had progressed some distance in his walk, the pedestrian caught a glimpse of the woman descending into the basement. The police Sunday found a canvass overshoe covered with blood in the basement of the Bartholin house. Its size precludes its having belonged to Mrs. Bartholin, but it has not been identified as belonging to Minnie Mitchell.

Ladrones Lay Ambush.

Manila, Aug. 25.—Ten members of the native constabulary were ambushed last Tuesday at a point near Magdalen, in the province of Sorsogon, Luzon, by a band of sixty ladrones. The latter were armed with rifles and bolos and a desperate fight at close range took place. One member of the constabulary was killed, two were wounded and three were captured. Seventy constabulary have taken the field in pursuit of the ladrones.

Head-On Collision.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 25.—In a head-on collision between two cars on the Bay Shore Terminal line late yesterday, the two motormen and a boy were killed and many others badly injured. Both cars were filled with Sunday excursionists and few escaped injury.

Serious Floods.

Emporia, Kan., Aug. 25.—Hundreds of farmers are fleeing from the waters of the Cottonwood river, leaving behind their deluged farms and flooded homes. The river has been rising steadily for a week and great damage is now resulting.

Caught Between Cars.

Warren, Ind., Aug. 25.—Jack Neff, aged sixteen years, son of Adam Neff, of this city, was caught between freight cars at the Clover Leaf depot and probably fatally injured.

FUNDS OF DEPOSITORS

Disappeared When Pleasant Durham, Private Banker At Elmore Made A Quiet Trip.

The Man Is Now Said To Be Stranded At Chicago and Bank Has Suspended.

Washington, Ind., Aug. 25.—Last April Pleasant Durham, a dapper-looking fellow who claimed Chicago as his home, and represented himself to be worth $50,000, located at Elmore, Daviess county, and opened a bank. He built up considerable business and seemed to be full-handed. Last Tuesday he sent his wife out of town and followed the next day, telling interested persons he was obliged to go to Terre Haute on business. He closed the bank until his return. Wednesday he telegraphed that he had missed the train and would arrive on Thursday, but Durham failed to appear on that day and there were many expressions of surprise. The climax came Saturday when a Chicago lawyer wrote that Durham was in Chicago, stranded, and that the bank must suspend. Durham is now found to have absconded with the funds of depositors, amounting to $10,000.

BLOW WITH BARE FIST

Logansport Junk Dealer Killed By An Employee.

Logansport, Ind., Aug. 25.—Neils Hansen, a Logansport junk dealer, was murdered Saturday night by Tom Hiles, a local tough, in a quarrel over some work which Hiles had done for Hansen. The quarrel occurred in Patrick Burns' saloon, where half a dozen persons witnessed it. Hansen's murder brought up the community to such a pitch of excitement that when Hiles was taken to jail in the patrol wagon there were numerous threats of lynching.

The crime was a deliberate attack on the part of Hiles, who, during the quarrel, threatened several times to strike Hansen. Finally he struck Hansen a blow in the lower jaw which broke the latter's neck. Hansen died instantly. Hiles ran from the saloon and was followed by the bartender, who struck at him but failed to hit him. A crowd gave chase and Hiles ran into another saloon, where the police captured him.

The Gas City men were the last in the Indiana district to accept the reduction. Work will be resumed in Gas City in two weeks. The Eastern lodges are still working out against the proposition.

Home's Cremated.

Indianapolis, Aug. 25.—Thirteen valuable draft horses were cremated in the stables of Morgan & Jackson, coal and lime dealers, late Saturday night. TAPS Affecting Scenes At Funeral of General Sigel.

New York, Aug. 25.—Taps was sounded Sunday for General Franz Sigel. Simple and unostentatious was his funeral. Surrounding the flag-covered coffin wherein lay the dead general attired in the well-worn uniform he had used during the war, stood the few surviving comrades who had fought shoulder to shoulder with the veteran in wars in two hemispheres. Some of these spoke simple eulogies, and then the body was carried to its last resting place in Woodlawn cemetery, followed by a long line of scarred and crippled veterans bearing with them tattered flags.

Conspicuous among those who paid tribute to the memory of Gen. Sigel was Carl Schurz, his comrade in arms, first in the great uprising which swept Europe in 1848 and later in the civil war. For three hours the body lay in state, and during that time at least 10,000 persons filed past.

Ohio's Legislative Muddle Requires A Special Session.

Columbus, O., Aug. 25.—The Ohio legislature convened in extraordinary session this afternoon for the purpose of enacting a code of laws for the government of the municipalities of the state. The governor urged in a special message submitted at the opening of the session that the legislature confine its work to the enactment of a municipal code and the repeal of the Rorer law, passed at the session last winter, which by an error deprived the supreme court of jurisdiction in a large class of civil cases. The code prepared by the governor will be introduced simultaneously in the house and senate, and it is expected that it will be considered by each of these bodies sitting as a committee of the whole. In the opinion of leading members the work of the extra session will be completed in three weeks.

Official Reports Low.

Manila, Aug. 25.—Official cholera statistics show a total up to date of 25,664 cases and 18,040 deaths. The actual number of cases and deaths is greatly in excess of the official reports. In Manila there were but eight cases reported last Saturday. In some of the provinces of Luzon the cholera situation is bad, 414 cases and 317 deaths were reported from the province of Ilocos Norte last Saturday.

OSTRICH LOGIC.

"When I can't see danger there is no danger." That's the logic of the ostrich which hides its head and exposes its body to the hunter. There are not a few people who seem to have gone to the ostrich to learn logic. The most dangerous enemies of humanity are the enemies which can't be seen, the disease breeding microbes which infect the blood. It is harder to get the microbe out of the blood than to keep it out, but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does both by purifying the blood and then keeping it pure.

If there are eruptions on the skin, boils, pimples, sores or other signs of impure blood, use Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which will purify the blood and cure the eruptions which all come from it.

"My blood was all out of order, and I had to go to the doctor," writes Mrs. James R. Moss, New London, Stanley Co., N.C. "He gave me medicine which helped me for a short time. In the winter of 1898 I got worse than I had ever been. My tonsils were enlarged and my neck swollen all out of shape; my throat was sore and I could not cure it. My husband went for the doctor, but he gave me no encouragement. He helped me a little, but it did not last long. He attended me for twelve months, when I heard of a lady whose condition was like mine, who was taking your medicine and was getting well. So I secured some of the medicine and began taking it. In one week I was able to do my cooking. When I began taking the medicine I could sit up only a few minutes at a time, and I could rest or sleep only a little while at a time. My throat was so sore at times I could not even swallow sweet milk, and my tonsils were full of little eating sores. My left side was swollen out of shape and I could hardly get my breath. The doctor said I would not get well, but three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, three bottles of his 'Pelle's,' three bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and the use of salt water did the work and cured me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and its consequences.

THE gain of the eleven religious denominations was 27.27 per cent. during the last decade—considerably more than the gain in population—and there does not seem to be any reason for discouraging statements on the de-Christianizing of the United States. There is doubtless less of the Christianity expressed by going to church twice on Sunday, but that practical Christianity which finds expression in contributions to religious and benevolent institutions of all kinds and in decent and sober living by the masses of the people was never stronger than today.—Indianapolis Journal.

STATISTICS show that within the memory of every man old enough to vote, 3,000,000 men were doomed to involuntary idleness in this country under the only period of absolute Democratic supremacy in national affairs within the knowledge of this generation; while, with Republican leadership in control of national affairs, the job hunts the man, rather than the man the job. This may all be a mere coincidence, as Democratic orators and newspapers insist, but the wage-earner will doubtless prefer Republicanism and prosperity to Democracy and disaster, even if the fact that these partnership exist mere coincidence.

All Were Saved.

"For years I suffered such untold misery from Bronchitis," writes J. H. Johnson, of Broughton, Ga., "that often I was unable to work. Then when everything else failed, I was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. My wife suffered intensely from Asthma, till I cured her, and all our experience goes to show it is the best croup medicine in the world." A trial will convince you it's unrivaled for Throat and Lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at W. F. Peter Drug Co.

Engine Derailed.

Saturday evening the east bound Southern Indiana local freight ran into the scale switch which had been left open just west of the S. I. junction depot and was derailed at the east end of the switch. The scales were broken down but no damage was done to the train. The B. & O. S-W. wrecking crew was called and put the engine back on the track, after a delay of about three hours. The passenger train which came up behind the local was compelled to wait until the track was cleared and the train going west did not get out until about an hour late.

Printing Office Destroyed.

W. F. Bush received a telegram this morning from his brother, Fred Bush, at Silver City, New Mexico, stating that Sunday night a flood destroyed the building in which his printing office is located and with it his printing material. Two weeks before a mountain flood destroyed four or five buildings in the town but his office was not damaged at that time.

Jim O'Brien's Epitaph.

"I suppose our western country has furnished more funny things in the epitaph line than all the rest of the world," remarked a Colorado ex-congressman.

"I remember one that adorned the cemetery at Leadville in the palmy days of that great mining camp. It seems that in the course of a barroom brawl one Jim O'Brien, a well known character, had his existence terminated prematurely. He was a good fellow in the main and not without friends. One of the dead man's associates, in deep grief over his demise, erected a wooden slab over his grave on which he had written in large letters:

"Jim O'Brien departed for heaven at 9:30 a. m."

"A local humorist happened along soon afterward and appended the following:

"He was 420 p. m.—O'Brien not yet arrived. Intense confusion. The worst is feared."

—Washington Times.

Love of Country.

For the love of country, as such, it would be difficult to decide between the blundering of St. Paul and the mountain born likelihoods of the Tyrol. Both will wander in search of fortune to the ends of the world and yet look back to their native mountains as their only true home. The same is true of the Swiss, although in a lesser degree. It is a very singular fact that inhabitants of mountainous countries possess this feeling of attachment in a much intenser form than those of flat countries.

Lacked Heart.

"Once there was a lawyer out near Galesburg," said an Illinois congressman, "who made a brilliant defense in a certain case. Men praised his effort. 'Will he make his mark for ability as an advocate?' some one asked. 'No,' replied the veteran lawyer. 'His ability begins here at the Adam's apple and extends upward. He must have something under his left breast.' The congressman cited this as an example why some speeches fail in the house of representatives.—Washington Post.

FACTS ABOUT REPUBLICAN STATE CANDIDATES.

Senator Charles W. Fairbanks: While the Indiana reorganized Democracy in its state platform demands popular election of United States senators, the Indiana Republicans, preferring always performance to profession, are setting an example they do not follow by giving the Indiana voter an opportunity to cast his vote for or against a candidate whose election is certain to follow the selection of a Republican legislature. Senator Fairbanks is so well known in this state that the details of his career are not in the nature of news. He was born in Union county, Ohio, fifty years ago; was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1872; was admitted to the bar in 1874; removed to Indianapolis the same year, and has since been continuously a resident of this state. He had advanced to the front rank of his profession and to the leadership of Indiana Republicanism when elected United States senator in 1897. He was temporary chairman of the Republican national convention which nominated William McKinley for president in 1896, and was chairman of the committee on resolutions and as such reported the platform in the national convention of 1900. He was a member of the United States and British high joint commission of 1898, and chairman of the United States commissioners. He is chairman of the important senate committee on Public Buildings and Grounds. During his first term as United States senator he has arisen to a place of commanding influence in national affairs rarely attained within so short a time. He has been a strong factor in the most important legislation of the great era which began with the inauguration of William McKinley. Entering the senate on the day Major McKinley became president, he was conspicuously identified with the great administration of the martyred president, whose respect and confidence he enjoyed in fullest measure. His re-election to the senate will be a great state's seal of approval upon a public career of large and increasing usefulness.

David E. Storms, candidate for secretary of state, was born in Tippecanoe county thirty-six years ago, where he grew to manhood on a farm. He graduated in law from the University of Michigan in 1892. He is a past grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, and has been president of the Lincoln League. His home is in Lafayette, where he practices law. Mr. Storms is a pleasing public speaker who has long been lending his efforts to Republican success. His unopposed nomination is an indication of the extent of his popularity.

David E. Sherrick, candidate for auditor of state, is a traveling insurance agent. His home is in Noblesville. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the nomination four years ago, and as usual, came up from his defeat smiling. He is said never to forget a face or a name. He pledged himself to maintain that careful supervision of financial affairs which has marked the policy of his predecessor.

Nat U. Hill, candidate for treasurer of state, is one of the well-known Republicans of southern Indiana. His home is in Bloomington, where he has lived all his life. He is a graduate of Indiana university. He is a successful business man of large interests and unquestioned probity. He has been a delegate to Republican national conventions and a member of the state central committee.

Charles W. Miller, candidate for attorney general, is a well-known lawyer of Goshen. He was born in Floyd county in 1863. He taught school and later attended the University of Michigan, where he graduated in law in 1884. Four years later he became mayor of Goshen, and the youngest municipal chief in the state. He is prominent in the affairs of the Masons and Knights of Pythias. He was formerly a law partner of Judge Francis E. Baker. He attended as a delegate from Indiana the Republican national convention which nominated Harrison for president in 1892. As a lawyer he has a wide and favorable reputation.

Robert A. Brown, candidate for clerk of the supreme court, was born in Franklin forty-three years ago. He graduated from Franklin college in 1884, and engaged in newspaper work. At the time of his election as clerk of the supreme court four years ago he was editor of the Franklin Republican.

Fasset A. Cotton, candidate for superintendent of public instruction, was born at Nineveh, Johnson county, in 1862. Graduating from the Nineveh high school, he became a teacher in 1881, beginning his work in Henry county. He graduated later from Spieelman academy, the State Normal, and Butler university. He became county superintendent of schools in Henry county and chief deputy to the state superintendent of public instruction. A life-long association with school work fits him peculiarly for the state superintendency.

Benjamin F. Johnson, candidate for state statistician, was born in Muskingum county, Ohio, fifty-four years ago. Twenty-five years ago he came to Indiana. He took charge of the Oxford academy, and in 1881 began a ten-years' term of service as superintendent of schools of Benton county. In 1900 he was elected state statistician.

Willis S. Blatchley, the most useful state geologist Indiana has ever had, has held the office since 1894. During his term he has performed service of inestimable value to the state. He is forty-two years of age, a native of Connecticut. After his graduation from Indiana university he was connected with the geological surveys of Arkansas and New Mexico, and with the United States fish commission.

Judge John H. Gillet, candidate for re-election as judge of the supreme court, is a resident of Hammond, where he achieved distinction as circuit judge during the pendency of the Roby racetrack cases. He is forty years old. He was appointed judge of the supreme court to fill a vacancy by Governor Durbin. His qualifications are unquestioned.

Woodfin D. Robinson, W. J. Henley, Ulric Z. Wiley, James B. Black, Daniel W. Comstock, and Frank S. Roby, candidates for re-election as members of the appellate court are all jurists of well-established probity and legal ability. Judge Black is a soldier of the war of the Rebellion, in which he rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel. It is, on the whole, a young man's ticket, but yet representative of sound, substantial citizenship, offering a guarantee of solid influence in national affairs, and of careful, upright, economical administration of the state's business.

It is, on the whole, a young man's ticket, but yet representative of sound, substantial citizenship, offering a guarantee of solid influence in national affairs, and of careful, upright, economical administration of the state's business.

As compared with former party pronouncements the platform of the Indiana reorganized Democracy has a few planks missing, but the gentlemen who built it have had so much experience in straddling that they hope to escape falling through any of the cracks.

The tinplate workers have declined to accept a cut in wages in order to enable the mills to make a special vacation run on a foreign contract. Propositions for the reduction of wages at this time are out of order. This is not a tariff-for-revenue administration.

Those who remember the frightful death-rate among the trusts during the only Democratic tariff period of which this generation knows anything, must feel inclined to protest against this proposed annihilation of the trusts by the free trade route as cruel and inhuman punishment.

The Indianapolis Sentinel insists that the American people are not "alarmingly prosperous." Perhaps not. But how many people were scared to death by the prosperity which overtook them during the only tariff-for-revenue era of which this generation knows anything?

Tom Johnson of Cleveland is preparing to make a tour of Ohio in a circus tent, under which he will give a three-ring and platform performance. The Indiana reorganizers would never permit this show to make a stand in Indiana, as the platform in question is very much like the one constructed at Kansas City.

It seems unfortunate that in all the space that Democratic newspapers will devote to the trust issue during the present campaign they will be unable to devote a single syllable to any measure enacted during a period of absolute Democratic national control in this country by which any trust was injured or restrained.

A Harvard archaeologist has been digging up some interesting relics of prehistoric times from a cemetery near Cairo that is thought to be nearly 6,000 years old, but he has found nothing much older than the free trade issue which the leaders of the reorganized Democracy have disinterred for service during the present campaign.

The statesmen who are in for wiping out protection preach those who point to the prosperity of the American farmer and wage-earner under the protective system by saying that a full stomach is a poor argument. The leadership of the tariff-for-revenue propaganda found the empty stomach a pretty strong bit of logic to go up against in 1894.

Not one of the Southern manufacturing states in which Democracy is dominant has a child-labor law on its statute books, and representatives of organized labor who have gone to that section to inaugurate a movement for the betterment of conditions have been driven out as disturbers of the peace. Thousands of mere children are at work in these mills; the hours are from eleven to twelve a day, the wages from ten to fifty cents, adults rarely earning over a dollar a day. One of these factory children in twenty can read and write. From this fountain head of real Democracy comes Judge Griggs of Georgia, chairman of the national Democratic congressional campaign committee, issuing interviews, proclamations and pronouncements, all having for their purpose the enlightenment on economic questions of wage-earners in a score of Republican states where modern conceptions of the rights of labor years ago supplanted the industrial mediocrity for which stands Griggs and a hundred other members of congress who will dominate the Democratic side in the next congress. Until Democratic leadership, in that large section of the Union where its sway is undisputed, makes a century's advancement in the matter of labor legislation, let it cease its hypocritical affectation of interest in the welfare of the wage-earner.

Look Pleasant, Please.

All physicians and medicine failed to help him till he tried Electric Bitters, which worked such wonders for him that he declares they are a godsend to sufferers from dyspepsia and stomach troubles. Unrivaled for diseases of the stomach, Liver and Kidneys, they build up and give new life to the whole system. Try them. Only 50 cents. Guaranteed by W. F. Peter Drug Co.

FORFEITED THE GAME.

Indianapolis Club Got Wrathful at the Umpire and Quit.

The base ball game at the park Sunday afternoon between the Y. M. I. club of Indianapolis and the Seymour Reds ended abruptly in the eighth inning, when the visitors gathered their traps together and left the field. Up to that time the game had been closely contested and both clubs were playing good ball. Schmidt was at the bat and was hit by a pitched ball. Umpire Miller gave him his base and this so angered the visitors that they refused to finish the game. By leaving the field they forfeited the game to Seymour. The visitors walked into town and most of them left at 5:24 for Indianapolis.

The score up to the time the game ended so abruptly stood as follows: Y. M. I. 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—2 Seymour 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 Batteries—Meyers and Massing; Schmidt and Jones. Umpire, Miller. The version of the game by the Y. M. I. as published in the morning's Sentinel is as follows:

"The Y. M. I. game at Seymour yesterday ended in the eighth inning on account of the rank decisions of the Seymour umpire. He allowed a Red to go to first after he had struck at the ball. The team then walked off the field and had to walk to the hotel. The pitching of Meyers was the feature of the game, only one hit being made off him."

Forest M. Krummel Dead.

Forest M. Krummel born January 30, 1896. Departed this happy life Sunday morning at 5 o'clock, August 24, 1902, passing into the next world of peaceful slumber to rest with his mother, Mrs. Philip Krummel, who died six years and some months ago.

Forest's mother dying while he was but a few days old left him to be cared for by her dear, kind christian lady friends of Seymour, who are to be thanked and rewarded for their motherly help shown to the little orphan.

When Forest was but a few weeks old Mrs. Harriet E. Lewis, of this city, took the dear little boy to care for and made him the pet and a lovable member of the family by her kind and motherly, affectionate love for him.

She taught him the best qualities a child should have, teaching him to love and make every one his friend. Mrs. Lewis is to be thanked and rewarded for her motherly love to him and nursing him through his different ills and suffering. Her love for the dear little boy can not be told as it was so great.

Forest being sick but three or four weeks, had the best and very closest attention that a mother, grandmother and friends could give, not being left one moment alone. What and how the dear little boy suffered is hard to tell, his sufferings being that of a determined little will not wanting to leave this world. Forest would often ask his mother and grandmother if they loved him and to stay with him.

Before his last suffering he made his death known to his griefed friends by telling them that his mother was dead and that she was going to come for him.

Forest was a dutiful little Sunday school worker for one so young, never missing unless having a good cause, his health or the weather preventing his going. He was loved by all who knew him making a host of friends who will miss him in his little daily life duties, and whose place can never be replaced in his kind home, and by his brothers and little sister and mother who are left to mourn his death.

The funeral will occur from the home on the corner of High and Broadway Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Revs. Moody and Jones.

Weep not dear mother, brothers and sister and other relatives and friends, for God in his wisdom has called Forest from a world of temptations and cares to a land of heavenly rest far better than this.

A precious one from us has gone, a place so joyful is still which never can be filled.

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try ONE bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. You can get this reliable remedy at W. F. Peter's Drug Co., and get a sample bottle free. Regular size, 75 cts. Get Green's special all-manage.

To Be Cured This Disease Must Be Fought In Early Stages.

In popular usage asthma is a term employed to describe a well known condition, yet it is significant of the broadened knowledge of diseases in general that, as a distinct disease, the name is applied in a more and more restricted sense by physicians.

For example, the asthma of which Dr. Johnson complains in his later years, as recorded by Boswell, is so clearly set forth by the faithful biographer that the modern physician is even now able to determine that an affection of the heart was responsible for it.

Asthma is often a family affection and is frequently traceable to parents, grandparents or great-grandparents. Most sufferers are of an excitable, emotional or nervous temperament. It bears a rather striking analogy to epilepsy in that its attacks are characterized by suddenness and influenced by strong emotions, like fear or grief, and not infrequently occur at night, when the sufferer may be plunged from deep sleep into an attack. In both diseases excitement during the day is often followed by attacks.

Physicians believe, however, that a high strung organization alone is not sufficient to develop the disorder, but that some other source of irritation must be added—that is, some faulty state of the system elsewhere, like disease of the digestive tract, harmful factors circulating in the blood, obstacles to free breathing in the nose and others.

Whatever may be the source they must be dealt with energetically and at an early stage, since long standing cases of asthma invariably develop changes in the lungs and heart which are permanent. The disease can then be dealt with only by measures aimed at palliating and cutting short the separate attacks and with no reasonable hope of an actual, permanent cure.

For the young sufferer and for those in the early attacks of asthma the writer would emphasize the necessity of a thorough search for and the removal of any and every error in hygienic living in order to avoid the suffering of the chronic asthmatic and the further diseases which it brings in its train.—YOUTH'S COMPANION.

A UNIQUE SENTENCE.

THE NOVEL PENALTY A JUDGE IMPOSED UPON TWO MEN.

Both Prisoners Were Condemned to Jail Until One of Them, a College Graduate, Taught the Other How to Read and Write.

Along in the seventies the late Judge Arnold Krekel was holding court at Jefferson City, relates an old timer, when there appeared before him two men charged and indicted for a violation of the United States laws, one of whom will be called Brown. He was charged with cutting timber on the public domain. Brown was about 40 years old and had been reared on the border in Arkansas and never had any opportunities for schooling, hence was unable to read or write. In his endeavors to get a living he had cut timber suitable for making ax handles on United States lands, which led to his arrest and imprisonment. The other man will be called Jones, for the real name of both men are not known in the memory of any one who witnessed the incident.

Jones was charged with and indicted for having sold liquor to the Indians. Mr. Jones was a native of New York, a graduate of Union college and was educated for a lawyer. He possessed a highly cultured mind, a good Latinist and thoroughly scholarly in all sorts of books. Not succeeding in his profession in his native state, more from lack of application than otherwise, he left that country and plunged into the great west and located nobody knew where, but he drifted into the lower strata of society, and to obtain the necessities of life he resorted to "bootlegging" among the red men of the Indian Territory border. His arrest and imprisonment followed.

The two men were arraigned before Judge Krekel and the indictments read. They both pleaded guilty and threw themselves upon the mercy of the court. The court questioned both prisoners at length and drew from each his history. He recounted the wrongs they had been guilty of against society. He did this in a kindly tone and manner, suggesting in a mild form that both might have been useful members of some community had they sought honorable means and methods to secure a livelihood.

The court seemed puzzled how to assess a punishment that would meet the ends of justice and protect the government, its lands, its wards and society. Finally, sitting up in his chair, looking over his glasses as both men stood before him, in a voice little louder and more positive than usual he said:

"Mr. Brown, it is the sentence of the court that you be confined in the Cole county jail until you are educated to read and write." The judge then turned his eyes upon the other prisoner at the bar and, possibly in a louder voice, said, "Mr. Jones, it is the sentence of the court that you be confined in the Cole county jail until you have taught Mr. Brown to read and write, and I enjoin upon the keeper of the jail to afford you every facility possible with the safe keeping of his prisoners."

The lawyers and spectators in court looked with astonishment at each other as the sentence was concluded, and the marshal led the prisoners out of the courtroom.

It was the second term of the court after this incident when the marshal conducted Brown and Jones into court and it was announced by the court that Brown had completed his education—ready to graduate—able to read and write. Judge Krekel looked over his glasses and asked that the prisoner give him an evidence of his being able to read. Brown stood up and read a few paragraphs from a newspaper to the satisfaction of the court, when he said, "Mr. Clerk, will you let him sit at a table and write me a letter?"

Paper, pen, ink and a seat were furnished Brown, who went to work to write a letter to the court. For some time the poor fellow struggled with the task, and in the meantime Jones was very nervous, fearing he would be compelled to go back to jail and "take up school" again. Finally the clerk said, "May I please your honor, the prisoner can write, but cannot form sentences to make it intelligible."

"Mr. Clerk," said the court docket he was looking at, "you will dictate a letter for him and see what headway he makes with that." The clerk dictated a letter that the prisoner wrote quite readily, which subsequently was passed up to the court, who read the same and after giving the prisoners a short lecture both were discharged and walked from the courtroom free men.—Jefferson City Tribune.

Fish That Change Color.

It has been found that certain prawns, common along the coasts of England, change their color at least twice every 24 hours in order to harmonize with the stronger or weaker light prevailing near the surface or in the deeper water. As evening approaches these fish lose their distinctive dark colors, and all assume a transparent azure hue. The change begins with a reddish glow, followed by a green tinge which gradually melts into blue. The day and night change has become so habitual that specimens kept in perpetual light or perpetual darkness nevertheless undergo the periodic alteration of color.

Dietary Repentance.

"I think," said A. Bronson Alcott in one of his conversations, "when a man lives on beef, he becomes something like an ox. If he eats mutton, he becomes sheepish, and if he feeds upon pork may be not become swinish?" "That may be," said Dr. Walker, "but when a man lives on nothing but vegetables I think he is apt to be pretty small potatoes."
